NTA - PUBLIC RELEASE

The desperation of a one-man party trying to be relevant.

I ask the country to take note of a certain political leader, of a one-man party, whose comments 9 out of 10 times are focused on me and the NTA.

Perhaps the only politician in the world who spends most of his energy on attempting to prevent others from being in government, rather than trying to be in government himself, his actions perhaps leave one no choice but to ask the following questions.

1) Is his unhealthy fixation on me, something personal? Because if it is, I am not interested in any way whatsoever, and I am a happily married man.

2) Is he a terrible politician who needs to understand politics, as his focus is on political parties that are neither in government nor opposition?

3) Is the real reason for the formation of his party about doing the dirty work of the PNM, which is all aimed at making politics so distasteful that it discourages independent middle-ground voters from participating in elections?

Acting like Keith Rowley in all that he does, he is bitter, hateful and only knows how to attack others. And the role that he is playing also exposes the fear that the PNM has for me and the NTA.

For several months after the NTA was formed, he insisted on forming a partnership. So having been rejected, he seems to have changed tactics and is now fully focused on those who can democratically remove this Rowley-led government.

Additionally, less than 12 hours after he formed a coalition with another party, one would think he would be focused on celebrating that fact. But instead, he chooses to attack me and the NTA, which says a lot about his character and his agenda.

I will leave the public to decide what is motivating his actions, but as we get closer to finally being able to deal with the 8 years of poor representation by this Keith Rowley-led government, please take note of who is fighting for the people, and who is singing for their supper, and fighting for their political survival.

Gary Griffith
